

Nominate an Outstanding Adult Educator by December 8, 2007

by Sheila Sherow, Institute for the Study of Adult Literacy, Penn State

Adult educators continually open windows for their students; some open windows for their colleagues as they contribute to what we know about adult learning and teaching; and others open a window for the public, so the community can see the need for and benefits of adult literacy services.

PAACE recognizes the outstanding contributions to the advancement of adult education through the annual Outstanding Adult Educator Award. As last year's recipient, I can tell you that receiving this award was a capstone moment in my career; I felt honored to be recognized by my colleagues.

Please think about your colleagues—is there someone you'd like to see recognized for her or his work in adult education? Now is the time to nominate that deserving colleague for the 2008 Outstanding Adult Educator Award. Nomination criteria and the nomination form are available on the Awards page of the PAACE web site (<http://paacesite.org>).

The 2008 Outstanding Adult Educator Award will be presented at the PAACE Banquet on Thursday evening, February 7, 2008, at the PAACE Midwinter Conference in Hershey.
